This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. OF A

PRACTITIONER OF MORE THAN FIFTY YEARS' EXPERIENCE IN THE ART OF ANGLING.

CAMBRIDGE:
1882.

Sir Henry Wotton said of Angling, it was

"A rest to his mind, a chearer of his spirits, a diverter of sadness, a calmer of unquiet thoughts, a moderator of passions, a procurer of contentedness; that it begat habits of peace and patience in those that possessed and practised it."

Conyers at the Ring in Little-Britain. [Circa 1712.] 24mo.

This is a reprint of Markham's "Young Sportsman's Instructor," with new matter added, and it is declared at the end that "this book contains curiosities and secrets that never were in print in any book of angling whatever." It has a title-page with the reverse blank, and pages 1–138. Page 1 is headed "The Young Angler's Delight and Instructor," and as the signature is A, 4, it is probable that one or two leaves of preliminary matter are wanting. Part II. begins on page 97; page 127 is headed "Curiosities," the first of which is "To make sport with a Pike or Jack," and another (p. 132), "An Angler's Directions to preserve Orchards," which consists in raising a smoke with "mucky straw" when the wind is easterly, so that it "may be carried over the whole orchard." This is an avowed excerpt from the "Epit. Husb., p. 38." The book is very rare, and no trace of it is found in any collector's or other catalogue. [T. S.]

FOURNIVAL, RICHARD DE. La Vielle ou les dernières Amours d'Ovide. Poëme français du XIV^e^ siècle. Traduit du Latin de Richard de Fournival par Jean Lefevre. Publié pour la première fois et précédé de recherches sur l'auteur du Vetula par Hippolyte Cocheris. Paris, 1861. 12mo.

A translation of "De Vetula" by Richard de Fournival; a Latin poem of the fourteenth century. The passage treating of fishing is headed, "Comment Ovide tendait aux Poissons."

"Ovid appears to have been rather universal in his fishing. He took tribute from sea and river, and despised neither conger eel nor 'logger-headed' chub. De Fournival's work cannot but be interesting to the angling bibliophile, as showing that more than four hundred years ago most of the modern modes of fishing were practised: bottom fishing, for instance; the worm, the fly, the torch and spear, the night-line, the eel basket and fork, &c., &c." — T. Westwood.

SAUNDERS, JAMES. The Compleat Fisherman. Being a large and particular account of all the several ways of Fishing now practised in Europe: with abundance of curious secrets and niceties in the Art of Fishing, as well in the Sea as in Lakes, Meers, Ponds, Rivers or Brooks: whether by Darts, Spears, Harpoons, Nets, Hook and Line, or any other way whatsoever. More particularly calculated for the sport of Angling, with directions for preparing Angle Rods, Hooks, &c., &c. Collected from the best Authors, and from the long experience of James Saunders, Esq. London, 1724. 12mo.

Saunders's "Compleat Fisherman" has the merit of being a genuine and sterling treatise on the sport. Saunders is generally considered the first angling author who treats of the silk-worm gut: but Pepys, as far back as 1667, seems to have made acquaintance with silk-worm gut in England, for in his Diary he states: "This day Mr. Cæsar told me a pretty experiment of his, angling a minikin, a gutt-string varnished over which keeps it from swelling, and is beyond any hair for strength and smallness. The secret I like mightily." — T. Westwood.

The Compleat Angler or the Contemplative Man's Recreation. Being a Discourse of Rivers, and Fish-Ponds, and Fish, and Fishing. Not unworthy the perusal of most Anglers. The second edition, much enlarged. London: Printed by T. M. for Rich. Marriot. 1655. 12mo.

This edition appears to have been almost rewritten. The interlocutors are three in this edition, — Piscator, Venator (who takes the place of Viator), and Auceps. — T. W.

The Same. To which is added, The Laws of Angling: with a new Table of the Particulars in this Book. The third Edition, much enlarged. London: Printed by J. G. for Rich. Marriot. 1664. 12mo.

Although the work is stated on the title-page to be "much enlarged," this must apply rather to a comparison with the first edition, as the changes are but few and unimportant with reference to the second. — T. W.

The Same. The fourth Edition, much corrected and enlarged. London: Printed for R. Marriot. 1668. 12mo.

A paginary reprint of its immediate forerunner, with the exception of the "errata," which are corrected.

The Same. Fifth Edition, much corrected and enlarged. [Under the collective printed title:] The Universal Angler, Made so, by Three Books of Fishing. The First. Written by Mr. Izaak Walton; The Second. By Charles Cotton, Esq.; The Third. By Col. Robert Venables. All which may be bound together, or sold each of them severally. London: Printed for Richard Marriot. 1676. 12mo.

The Same. Fifth edition. London: Printed for R. Marriot. 1676. 12mo.

This copy contains Part I. Written by Izaak Walton. Part II. By Charles Cotton.

WALTON and COTTON. The Compleat Angler: or, Contemplative Man's Recreation. In Two Parts. Containing, I. A large and particular Account of Rivers, Fish-ponds, Fish, and Fishing: Written by the ingenious and celebrated Mr. Izaak Walton. II. The best and fullest Instructions how to angle for a Trout and Grayling in a clear Stream. By Charles Cotton, Esq.; and published by Mr. Walton. Carefully and correctly published, from the best editions, with a number of occasional Notes. By Moses Browne, Author of Piscatory Eclogues. To which are added, The Laws of Angling; and an Appendix, shewing at one View, the most proper Rivers, particular Haunts, Baits; [&c., &c.] London: Printed and Sold by Henry Kent. 1750. 12mo.

The Same. Second edition. By Moses Browne. Very much amended and improved. London, 1759. 12mo.

The Same. Third edition. By Moses Browne. With the addition of all the Songs set to Music. London: Printed and sold by Henry Causton. 1772. 12mo.

The third edition has twenty pages of additional matter, with "several useful notes of Directions for the sport," and the songs set to music. Browne undertook to prune and polish his author's style, to suppress passages in his prose, to smooth down roughnesses in his verse, and to adapt him to the over-refined and fastidious taste of the day. — Westwood.

The Complete Angler: or, Contemplative Man's Recreation. Being a Discourse on Rivers, Fish-ponds, Fish, and Fishing. In Two Parts. The First written by Mr. Izaak Walton, The Second by Charles Cotton, Esq.; To which are now prefixed, The Lives of the Authors. Illustrated with Cuts of the Several Kinds of River-Fish, and of the Implements used in Angling, Views of the principal Scenes described in the Book. And Notes Historical, Critical, and Explanatory. [By Sir John Hawkins, Knt.] London: Printed only for Thomas Hope. 1760. Post 8vo.

WALTON and COTTON. The Same. Second edition. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for J. Rivington. 1766. Post 8vo.

(Part II. by Cotton, 1760.)

The Same. Third edition. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for J. and F. Rivington. 1775. Post 8vo.

(Part II. by Cotton, 1774.)

The Same. Fourth edition, with large Additions. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for John, Francis, and Charles Rivington. 1784. Post 8vo.

In this edition the Life of Walton has been enlarged, and a new Life of Cotton substituted for the one by W. Oldys in the previous editions.

The Same. Fifth edition, with Additions. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for F. and C. Rivington, &c. 1792. Post 8vo.

(Part II. by Cotton, 1791.)

"This edition is revised by Sidney J. Hawkins, son of Sir John Hawkins, who states in his advertisement that he had found on the margins of a copy of the fourth edition 'corrections and additions by the last editor, which, though not many, have been all made use of on this occasion, from a wish that the book might receive the advantage of his last corrections.'"

The Same. Sixth edition. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for F. & C. Rivington. 1797. Post 8vo.

The engravings, with the exception of the tackle plates, are suppressed.

The Complete Angler; or, Contemplative Man's Recreation: being a Discourse on Rivers, Fish-ponds, Fish, and Fishing. In Two Parts: The first written by Mr. Isaac Walton; the second by Charles Cotton, Esq. With the Lives of the Authors: and Notes Historical, Critical, Supplementary and Explanatory. By Sir John Hawkins, Knt. London: Printed for Samuel Bagster. 1808. 8vo.

The engravings in this (Hawkins's seventh) edition are executed afresh from the original drawings by Audinet. It contains portraits of Walton, Cotton, Hawkins, Sanderson, Hooper, Wotton, Herbert, and Donne.

WALTON and COTTON. The Complete Angler. London: Bagster. 1808. Royal 8vo. Large paper.

The Same. London: Bagster. 1815. Royal 8vo. Large paper.

This edition was edited by Mr. Henry Ellis, of the British Museum. His additions are mainly bibliographical and biographical. A fresh series of plates of fish was given with this reprint, and they are, in our opinion, superior to those of 1808. — T. W.

The Compleat Angler, or the Contemplative Man's Recreation. Being a Discourse of Fish and Fishing, Not unworthy the perusal of most Anglers. London: Bagster. 1810. Square 12mo.

A so-called facsimile of the original edition of 1653. The plates of fish, engraved on silver, "are in close imitation of their prototypes, but there is no attempt at identity in the general getting up of the work."

The Complete Angler [&c.]. London: Printed for James Smith. 1822. 8vo.

This edition was by Gosden, the sporting bookbinder; it includes Hawkins's notes and biographies, and a new set of plates.

The Complete Angler of Izaak Walton and Charles Cotton: Extensively embellished with Engravings on Copper and Wood, from original Paintings and Drawings, by first-rate Artists. To which are added, an Introductory Essay; The Linnæan Arrangement of the various River-Fish delineated in the Work; and Illustrative Notes. London: John Major. 1823. 8vo.

Large paper, with fine India proof impressions. There are 14 copper-plates and 77 wood engravings, the plates being again engraved by Cook and Pye from the old drawings by Wale, "which had been greatly heightened in the effect by the pencil of Mr. Frederick Nash." The editor was Mr. R. Thompson, author of the "Chronicles of London Bridge," 1827; the Introductory Essay was written by Major.

The Same. Second edition. London: John Major. 1824. 8vo.

Large paper, with fine India proof impressions. The copper-plates re-engraved by W. R. Smith, from Wale and Nash.

The Same. Fourth edition. Edited by John Major. London: D. Bogue. 1844. 8vo.
